EGG LAKE NEWS

EGG LAKE—Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Olson have been favored with many visitors lately. First, their daughter Mae came from Edmonton with Mr. John Collins to spend the week-end with her parents. They brought Betty Lou Chapman and Eileen Ewart to spend a couple of weeks here. Their son Harold came with Miss Laura Sites of Mayerthorpe for a couple of weeks. Miss Sites has now gone back home. Harold is staying with his father for a while. Their other daughter, Eileen (Buddy), also came for a week with Chuck Wilson. They now have left to go back to their work.

On Aug. 13 Father Ricard, from Plamondon, came to our church to celebrate the wedding of Jos. Auger and Miss Madeleine Martha Ladouceur, of Lac La Biche Mission.

Mr. Steve Peterson had the pleasure of receiving the visit of his father and mother from New Westminster, B.C., also his brother from Camrose.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Girard were also pleased to welcome their niece from the province of Quebec.

THE GREATEST man-hunt in history of Bruce peninsula, Ont., came to a happy ending when six-year-old Vincent Sorrente of Windsor, was found by four men after a 26-hour search in which 500 persons participated. Child, seen with father, was found exhausted hungry but unharmed.

Hail Damages Grain Crops

EGG LAKE — Many farmers had the misfortune to have their crops hailed on Aug. 11. Some claim the grain will be hailed 75 percent, others even more. The gardens were all chopped. It is very discouraging to see your year's work go like that in a few minutes. But there is nothing we can do about it, but hope for a better crop next year.

Mr. Bernard Amiott has moved a house he bought from Mr. Ulric Menard, to his farm. It took seven tractors to move it, but they finally got it in place, thanks to Messrs. Robert Lemay, Maurice Lebeuf, Marcel Vincent, Ulric Menard, who worked till after 10 p.m. to finish the work. The other three tractors belonged to the Amiot brothers.

"Grand Picnic" August 26

SPRUCE VALLEY—On Sunday, Aug. 26, there will be a grand picnic held on the grounds by Spruce Valley hall. There will be baseball and other games. Refreshments will be sold on the grounds. At night there will be a grand dance.

Plan to come and dance to a grand orchestra, on a grand floor in a grand hall.

Everybody welcome.

Miss Helen Pundyk, of Opal, went home on Tuesday, July 31. We hope you had a lovely holiday.

Mr. Joseph Shymoniak is busy building a new house by his old one.

Mrs. Pundyk of Opal is a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brownie Zilinski's place. She came on Tuesday, July 31. Mrs. Pundyk is Mrs. B. Zilinski's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Botar and Elsie Semashkewick have returned from Edmonton, on August 1.

Craigend Picnic Successful

CRAIGEND—The Craigend picnic was a success, with Briereville again taking first prize. Mr. A. Timchuk, of Lac la Biche was the lucky winner of the set of dishes. There were four other winners: Mr. Semenuik, Grassland, Ernest Lachawich, Richlake, Steve Paskar, Craigend, Gloria Thompson, MacRae.

There was a busy bee at the home of Mr. Stanley Panchuk, when 15 men helped cement the basement.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Danyluk have returned from their one week's visit at Vernon, B.C.

Miss Rosie Paskar has come home from Hairy Hill.

Mr. John Beniuk is sporting around with a new car.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Starchuk and family, from Grand Forks, B.C., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Salahub.

Accident Involves Two Vehicles

GRASSLAND—An accident occurred during gravelling operations involving the car of Mr. Earl Kanzig of Grassland and a light delivery truck from Edmonton. Mr. Kanzig had stopped, as the road was temporarily blocked, when he was run into from behind by the Edmonton truck. No one was injured, but the collision resulted in extensive damage to both vehicles. The accident occurred about five miles south and west of Grassland.

It is nice to be able to read Jack Scott's articles in the Herald. It would be even nicer if, when The Edmonton Sun starts its daily issue, we could have Mr. Weir back with us, to say nothing of Jack de Long and Elmore Philpott, instead of the anemic columnists of the present Edmonton paper.

Miss Barlee, who has been staying with Mr. and Mrs. Worthy Putnam, has returned to British Columbia.

Gravel trucks are whizzing through the hamlet, engaged in re-surfacing the highway. The new gravel will probably reach here tomorrow.

Mrs. Cecile Page, with the two boys, is staying with her parents on their farm west of Grassland.

Rain Hampers Stage Play

SPRUCE VALLEY—On Friday, Aug. 3, an interesting show was held in the Spruce Valley Hall.

On Saturday, Aug. 4, a Ukrainian show in technicolor was held in this same hall. A large attenddance was present.

On Sunday, Aug. 5, there was to have been a Ukrainian play in this district hall, acted by Edmontonians. On account of rainy weather and muddy, sloppy roads, the Edmonton artists failed to arrive. Quite a number of cars, trucks and tractors from the surrounding district showed up, but they just had to turn around and go back home. It's too bad this had to happen. Better luck next time.

Need More Parks

In one way, Alberta doesn't need more provincial and national parks, because the province is already dotted with them. Jasper, Banff, Elk Island, Waterton Lakes and in the unsettled northern districts huge tracts of land are set aside for park and game preserve areas.

What this part of the province needs, however, is more smaller parks, properly developed for the common people of the province to use. Jasper Park and Banff are too far removed and, particularly with Jasper, too high priced for the family with less than $25.00 a day to spend on hotel accommodation.

The business men of Lac la Biche have promoted the idea of making a nearby island a provincial park. It could easily be connected to the mainland and to town by a causeway across a shallow strait and has sufficient area for hundreds of summer cottages. Fishing in Lac la Biche and other nearby lakes is good. The island is surrounded by golden sandy beaches. It is easily accessible to residents of the Athabasca, Boyle, Lac la Biche and outside areas.

Establishment of a number of Provincial Parks similar in purpose, but much smaller in area to Elk Island, which is a Dominion park, would be a good thing for people of this Province.

Strange Post Office Attitude

The Postmaster-General has effectively discouraged businessmen from sending circulars through the mail by raising the rate from 1c per piece to 1½c. The Post Office claimed they were losing money on the deal and won't guarantee delivery within four days from the date such mail is posted.

Insofar as the postmen make their rounds anyway, and other postal deliveries are made in the usual manner without third class mail matter, we don't see how the fact of the mailman delivering a few pieces of third class matter along with first and seeond class mail could increase the post office's expenses any. We can see where postal revenues can be disastrously reduced for no good purpose by not having this business. The deficits will be paid by the taxpayer without the service, which is a lot less desirable than getting something for taxes levied to pay for postal deficits.

Recent heavy increases in rates charged newspapers with postal privileges may increase postal revenues (at the expense of the subscriber, who will eventually pay with higher subscription rates). But in Prince Edward Island the Charlottetown Guardian has made a private deal with the mail couriers to deliver their papers to rural route patrons for less than what the post office would charge if the couriers carried the papers as part of their regular mail load. This is not only ridiculous but unfair to other publishers who haven't been able to make a similar deal with the couriers.

We don't see why the Post Office refuses to carry second and third class mail matter except at such high rates that it pays the patron to use private means of delivery. And if that private means of delivery includes the very men hired by the post office to do the job for certain publishers on an exclusive basis, it is downright silly. Why can't all the mail delivery be handled by the Post Office in the first place?

Hail Damage

If the present unsettled weather continues 1951 will undoubtedly be one of the worst hail years on record in Alberta. Up to the beginning of August an estimated million acres had been damaged, according to J. Glen Elder, chairman of the Alberta Hail Insurance Board. Fierce hail storms, accompanied in many cases by hurricane-like winds, struck on eighteen consecutive days in the latter part of July, and more storms have been reported since. Central and south central Alberta have borne the brunt of the damage, but other areas have not escaped, and probably the most damaging single storm lashed crops in the Beaverlodge district.

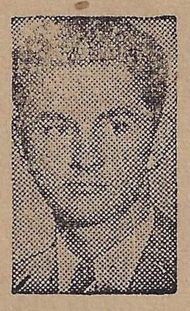
The areas hit represent about 8 per cent of Alberta's total seeded acreage. In 1930, by far the worst year on record, about 17 per cent of the total acreage was hit.

The unusually large amount of hail this year is said by meteorologists to be due to the presence of a stationary mass of cold air from the north Pacific lying over Alberta. This cold air mixing with warmer air from the earth's surface has created the hail and thunderstorms.

Mixed Notes

By JACK SCOTT

As any of you old O. O. McIntyre fans will remember, some of that entertaining man's most delightful stuff came under the casual heading of "Thoughts While Strolling," and I'd like to try something along those lines today.



Jack Scott

Curious how a funeral procession on a sunny day seems so much more tragic than on a gloomy one. It's a fact that every top-flight dramatist knows. The most effective setting for a scene of terror is not the ghostly old haunted house in a lightning storm, but a children's playground in sunlight. . . . I'm sorry that all that repetition so quickly killed the song "Ghost Riders In The Sky." It will surely be revived with success some future day. "A herd of red-eyed cows a-plowin' through the ragged skies and up a cloudy draw." What a grand line! Even Vaughn Munroe couldn't sour me on it.

Should be some sort of public recognition for the unsung inventive geniuses who make life simpler. I would nominate the humanitarian who brewed the first liquid mosquito repellent, the most important invention since Scotch tape . . . Why doesn't some smart airline like TCA give new passengers a little booklet explaining what's happening to them when they fly? Even veteran air travellers never know what all the sounds are about, why the engines change their tune after the take-off, or why (in the North Star) they confront the ruby-red of exhaust pipes in night flying. It would certainly be a step closer to fearless flight. The passenger feels a close sense of identity with the metal and fabric about him, might trust it a little more if he knew what it was there for.

What woman doesn't look more attractive in a French beret? . . . One of the dying words is "Hello". Haven't heard anybody say anything but "Hi" or "Hiya" in many a moon.

Funny how a familiar view takes on new, fresh beauty and color if you happen to see it accidentally in a mirror. Have you ever seen the scenery behind you framed suddenly in the rear-view mirror of a car and found the image refreshing?

If I were the hobby type I'd surely start a collection of apt descriptive phrases, small chunks of prose that catch and hold a picture. Irwin Shaw, for example, recently wrote of "the lemony smell of floor wax." Or how about Ralph Allen's description of a surf "stroking" a sand beach? A line I liked recently, and can't remember the author, described a spaniel approaching its owner, "head down, shambling in a little ballet of love and propitiation." Things I wish I'd wrtten.

You'll be surprised at how many different answers you can get to the question, "What is the most absorbing thing to watch?" Some nominations: a graceful woman's walk, the colored flame of a driftwood beach fire, the flight of a seagull, the green wake of an ocean liner . . . Ever see an Englishman whose shoes weren't fiercely polished?

Certainly like to know the secret of the gasoline companies in finding such eager, pleasant station attendants. Bought one single gallon of gas the other day to get me home and the lad gave a dollar's worth of courtesy . . . And is it just my bad luck or are all waitresses nursing some dark and secret sorrow over life? Haven't had a smile from one in recent weeks.

Must do a column some day on male gossips versus female gossips. Seems to me that a group of males are just as catty about mutual acquaintances as the ladies. Maybe more. What a silly world when so many people spend so much of their time at the indoor sport of character assassination . . . Looks as if the day of the garage is over. Architect friend tells me that he hasn't designed a house in the last year that didn't have a "car port" open on all sides. Which raises the problem of what to do with all the useless things that used to end up in the garage.

Nothing has the freshness of unconscious humor, as for example the paragraph in a news story this week, which read as follows: "Mr. Campbell's defense counsel asked for clemency because his client has an amputated leg and has no other means of support.

Can never understand why so many people purchase the smooth and meaningless trash of the slick-paper magazines when the New Yorker magazine is availale. In 15 years of reading that weekly I've never tired of its wise and tolerant view of life and the times . . . Has anybody ever figured out an answer to those hearty citizens who greet you with, "What's new?"

IRAN OIL DISPUTE

Dear Sir—A point that does not appear to have received any attention in the press is that fact that while Iranian oil may be subject to nationalization, the same cannot be said of the big oil refinery at Abadan. It was built by British brains and British money, and should not be subject to Communist-inspired national hysterical confiscation.

It must be noted that in recent years it has always been the small nations that have been guilty of international piracy, under the guise of nationalism. When Britain was the policeman of the world, we had peace. But now new policemen have taken over who do not know where they are going.

ANY VOLUNTEERS?

Dear Sir—I've just returned from the Korean front and learn that there actually are a few Communists in this country who have been rooting for our boys to get pushed out of Korea. I feel there should be an organization that would accept such characters as volunteers and give them Class A transportation to the Korean Communists they want to help. But I wonder if there would be any volunteers for this expedition, or are Canadian Communists good for talking only?

TEEN-AGE PROTEST

Dear Sir—We are writing this in answer to someone who wrote to your paper and said that teenagers were savages, as bad as Communists, and should be locked in asylums until they reach the age of 23 and developed their minds. We realize there are some bad teeners, but why condemn us all?

PRICES UP, SECURITY DOWN

Dear Sir — Raises in wages, raises in taxes, raises in the cost of living, particularly as to food. Since this is so, what about a raise in the family allowance? Parents are finding it harder and harder to properly care for their children.

VET'S PROTEST

Dear Sir—The most rotten trick that Ottawa has ever pulled has just come off. War veterans who are 70 years or over, who are receiving war veterans' allowances and who apply for the universal old-age pension of $40 a month, will have their veterans' allowances reduced by the amount of the old-age pension. Although some of us will still be able to get medical aid, this looks to me like a typical rotten trick. And we were all told this new pension would be universal, with no means-test! What a rotten trick!

DOUBLE FOR SNITCHING

Dear Sir—The fuss reported in the papers about that Ohio woman who didn't want her 14-year-old darling disciplined in school makes me sick. That's just the kind of thing that makes juvenile delinquents. When I was 16 a high school teacher slapped me. I complained to mother, hoping she'd fix the teacher. Instead my mom promptly tanned me with a razor strop. Then I behaved.

PAVING PROGRAM

Dear Sir—After reading the story in last week's Sun regarding the paving program on 118 Ave. and 66 St. I came to the conclusion that at least some progress is being made in Edmonton. But now I hear over the radio that city council is not satisfied with the paving on Connors Hill. Well, at least they're on their toes. Perhaps more qualified advice should be sought by the city before it undertakes paving jobs such as Connors Hill. There has already been considerable delay in getting this road open, and now it seems a further delay faces us.

DEFENDING PETAIN

Dear Sir—As a French-Canadian who lived many years in France, let me set the record straight. Marshal Petain was no more of a traitor than the man in the moon. The real traitor of France was Leon Blum, the Socialist leader. Petain was an enemy of Communists, who were responsible for the fall of France. Ask any real Frenchman who is not a Socialist or a Red and he will tell you the same thing.

Morinville. F. Lc.

POOCHES AND POISON

Dear Sir—Just a warning to gardeners who have pets around. Be careful of the beetle spray you use. I used some recently, didn't notice it contained a certain ingredient and it poisoned my dog. If you have pets and are in doubt about proper sprays, consult a veterinary.

Governor-General Admitted To Blood Indian Tribe

Visount Alexander, Governor General of Canada, has become the first white man in history to be admitted to Alberta's Blood Indian tribe.

At ceremonies at Standoff, south of Lethbridge, the governor was admitted to the tribe through the select Indian transfer-of-headdress ceremony as 4,000 persons, many of them from the Blackfoot confederation, looked on.

Head Chief Shot-Both-Sides marked both the governor-general's cheeks with red paint to begin the ceremony. The tribal chief than took a headdress, placed it on his own head, and then on the governor-general's head to signify his official entrance into the Blood Indian tribe.

Viscount Alexander took the name of Chief Pit-o-to-kon—Chief Eagle Head. His two sons, Brian, 12, and Shane, 16, were admitted as "Eagle Speaker" and "Many Fingers."

ATTENDS CONVENTION

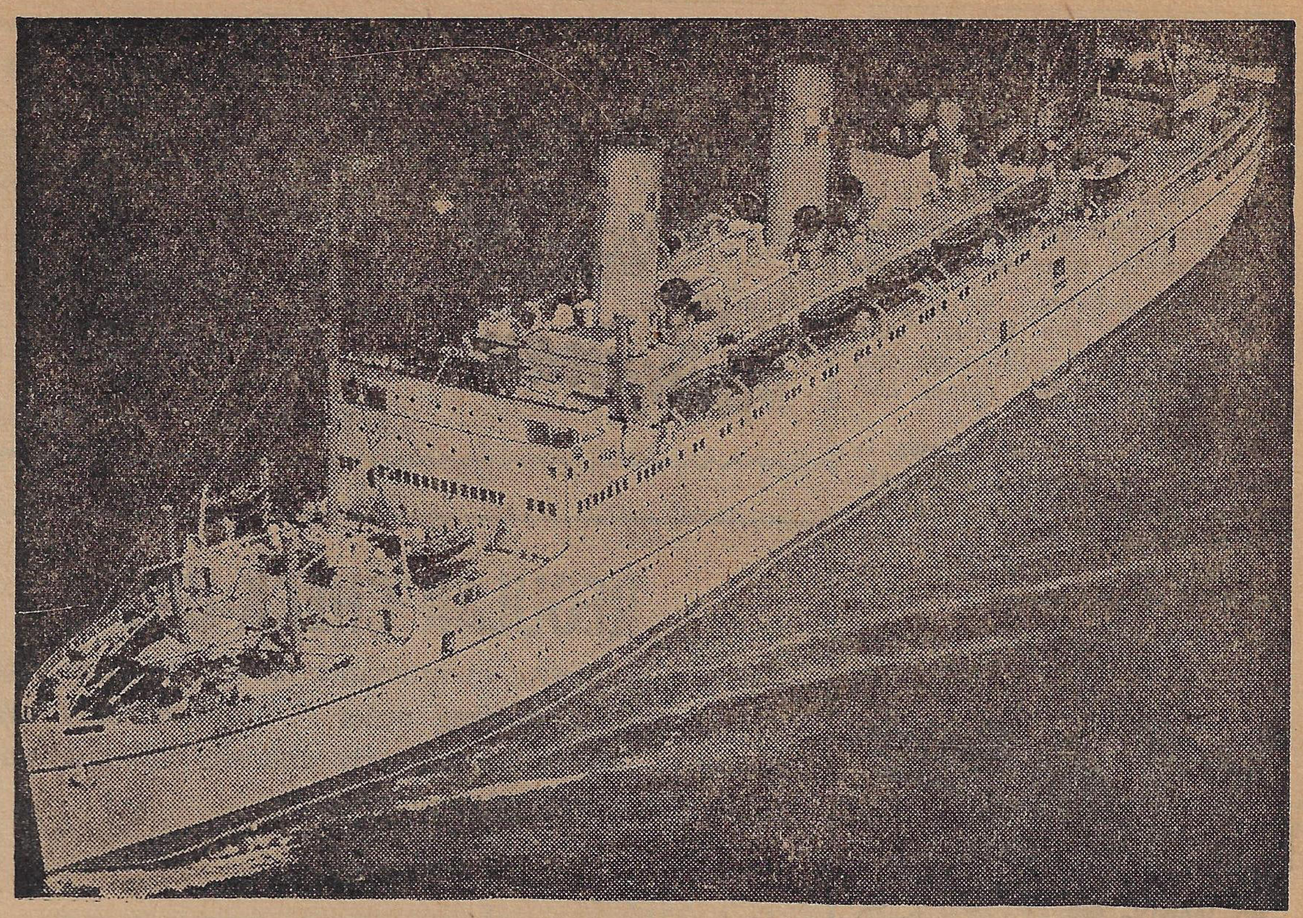
T. W. Pue, publisher of The Edmonton Sun and Community Publications, together with Mrs. Pue and their daughters, Dian and Betty Mae, are attending the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association annual convention in Winnipeg this week.

Delegates will be present from all parts of Canada, and a total attendance of about 500 is expected.

Civic and government dignataries will be special guests at the convention. Guest speakers will include Hon. T. Campbell, premier of Manitoba, and Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

RETAIL SALES UP

OTTAWA, Ont.—(BUP)—Dollar volume of retail sales rose 13 per cent in May to $884,790,000 from last year's corresponding total of $780,200,000. To the end of May this year sales aggregated $3,861,-310,000, some $555,000,000 or 17 per cent more than the January-May, 1950, total of $3,305,660,00.



ALBERTA SEA CADETS, ROYALTY WILL TRAVEL TOGETHER

The Empress of France, a 20,000-ton ocean liner, has carried many famous people in its day. On September 30 it will sail from England with Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, and the party of Lac la Biche sea cadets headed by Rev. Fr. McGrane. Father McGrane and his boys are at present sailing inland waterways of England in their craft Exeter II and hope to cross the English channel and visit Paris before returning to Canada on the ocean liner seen above.

Worthless Stock Sales Feared in Alberta As Racketeers Renew Western Operations

Albertans should ignore long-distance telephone calls from Ontario stock salesmen who may be pedalling worthless stocks.

That's the advice from brokers here who warn that a current Ontario legislative probe into stock racketeers may bring about renewed efforts to develop their fraudulent operations in the west.

The probe being conducted by the Ontario crime committee may be cutting off the stock racketeers from operating in the U.S., thus forcing them to confine their operations to this country.

Alberta government officials were silent on the matter as official statements would be considered "improper" while the judicial investigation is on.

Nevertheless, Albertans should be on guard against high pressure salesmanship by telephone, telegraph or mail. Eastern stock salesmen using telephone or similar methods to conclude deals are likely peddling stocks not qualified in Alberta.

Prospective buyers are advised to check with their own local brokers before making any purchases.

5,000,000 YANKS CAUGHT

In a letter to Ontario Attorney-General Dana Porter, chairman of the "Little Kefauver" crime committee, claim is made by Benjamin A. Javits, president of Independent Investors, Inc., a U.S. union of small investors, that 5,000,000 Americans own shares in Canadian mining and oil companies for which there is no market and which cannot be sold even at a loss.

It is stated most of these sales were made by racketeering Bay Street brokers operating by phone, wire or mail from Toronto.

Amendment to Canadian extradition laws are being considered to assist the U.S. in stopping high pressure selling by Canadian brokers.

Time Out FOR Laughs

The Eternal Feminine

"Don't be afraid!" said the burglar to the young widow, "I'm not after you, I want your money."

"Oh, go away," was the petulant reply. "You're just like all the other men."

You don't want to meet her, she's got a negative personality."

"Well, a lot of negatives have been developed in dark rooms."

Today a girl doesn't look as if she was poured into an evening dress. She looks as if someone had started to pour her out, and stopped half way.

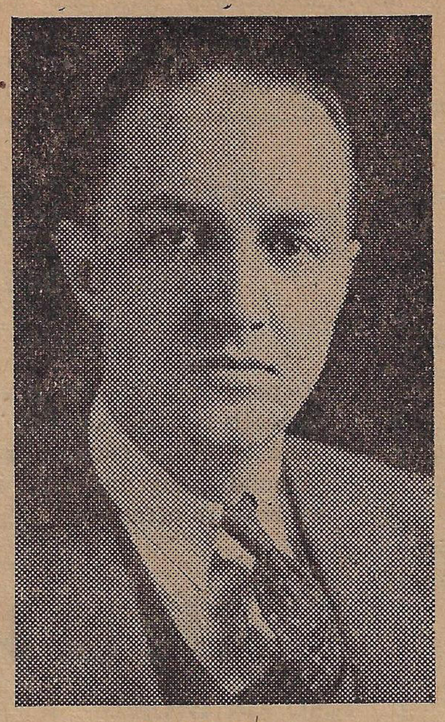
ALTA. PAPERS WIN HONORS

WINNIPEG — Alberta newspapers received honors in the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association "better newspaper competition" here during the group's annual convention.

Well up on the list of papers accorded honors were those published by T. W. Pue, publisher of The Edmonton Sun and Community Publications.

The Lac la Biche Herald and The Morinville Journal were judged the second and third best Alberta papers in their circulation classification. The Lac Ste Anne Chronicle and The Crossfield Chronicle were also judged the second and third best Alberta weeklies in their circulation group.

Winner of the all-round competition as the best Canadian weekly newspaper was The Barrie Examiner.



T. W. PUE
. . . "Papers Reflect Credit"

Other Alberta papers honored were The Drumheller Mail (third best editorial page) and The Claresholm Local Press (third best all-round paper.)

Mr. Pue has been attending the convention in company with Mrs. Pue and their daughters, Dian and Betty Mae.

Mr. Pue holds ten memberships in the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association, largest group of memberships held by any individual publisher in Canada.

The Edmonton Sun, not having been established the required two years for membership, is not a member of the CWNA.

In commenting on Mr. Pue's papers, the judges said his papers "reflect credit on the editor and publisher."

The Lighter Side

Neighbors Close the Windows

"Is your daughter musical?"

"Well, you'd get that impression from hearing her conversation, but when she sings, opinions differ."

Confused

Clerk—You say you want a ocher—red ocher like you use to paint bricks."

Tommy—Naw; it's tappy ocher. Mom wants to make a pudding with it.

Just a Reminder

"What's that piece of string tied round your finger for, Bill?"

"That's a knot. For-get-me-not is a flower. With flour you can make bread, and with bread you have cheese. This is to remind me to buy some pickled onions."

Clean People

Mistress: "You place a finger bowl at each corner of the table, Mary, I suppose they used finger bowls at your last place?"

Mary: "Oh, no, mum! They always washed before they came to the table."

The Truth

"Do you say your prayers every night, Trudy?" asked the minister.

"Oh, no, Mummy says them for me," answered Trudy.

"Indeed; and what does she say?" he queried.

"Thank God you're in bed " was the prompt reply.

His Unlucky Number

"I've never had a chance," said the man with the hang-dog expression. "No matter what I do my unlucky number pops up and gets me into trouble."

"What is your unlucky number?"

"Thirteen. Twelve jurors and one judge."

LETTER TO LOUISA

Girl Will Make Mistake If She Marries Drunkard

Dear Louisa—I am going with a very attractive boy and am in love with him.

He wants me to marry him but I can't make up my mind because he has one fault.

He makes a good salary and is very polite, and nice to people until he drinks too much. Then he becomes very rude, even to me. He has promised that he will stop drinking after I marry him but my mother says if he won't stop before marriage, he will never quit afterwards.

I really do love him very much but I don't want to be the wife of a drunkard.

Do you think he will keep his promise?

A. B. L.

Answer:

No I don't think he will keep his promise. Nine out of ten men and women who drink to excess will lie about that when they tell the truth about other things.

If your young man is honest about reforming, he will show his good faith by doing so before you are married and not waiting until you can't help yourself.

If I were you, I'd try him for a year and, if he keeps his word to you that long, I think you will be reasonably safe in marrying him.

LOIUSA.

Dear Louisa:

My husband has the offer of a better job in another province but, we have two small children and I hate to leave the town we have always lived in. My mother helps me with the children, too.

I have told my husband that I am satisfied with what he makes but he wants to go on up in his business and will not listen to me.

Do you think I should go with him or stay here until the children get larger? My mother says we can stay with her.

W. W.

Answer:

Go with your husband. When you married him, you didn't tell him that your vows were made on the condition that you could hold on to mother's apron strings.

Surely, if your husband is trying to make a success of his life, you should do your part by making him a pleasant home where he can be with his family.

If you stay with mamma now and he has to go his lonely way, he may find some one else who is not averse to being companionable in the absence of his wife.

LOIUSA.

Alberta Firm Producing 'Tri-Focal' Eye Glasses

CALGARY, Alta.—(BUP)—Three-in-one glasses have arrived.

Naturally, they're known as "tri-focal" glasses, since they go one step further than bi-focals.

Bi-focals are designed to allow the wearer to see objects both at a distance and close at hand. The tri-focal lenses will make objects clearer in the intermediate range.

The break in focusing the eyes is made more gradual, and because of this, the tri-focals are tagged with the fancy name of "continuous vision lenses."

The lenses are being prescribed for persons over 50, because from that age on it becomes increasingly difficult to adapt one's eyes to changes in distances.

Despite the advantages, Calgary optometrist S. Alwyn Bartlett said there were some drawbacks. "I don't think it will be a lens that everyone will want," he said.

"For one thing, they are about twice the price of ordinary bi-focals, and for some people it is necessary to learn to use them to the best advantage."

R. H. Morrison, another optometrist, said the lenses were easier on the eyes than bi-focals.

A third optometrist, L. F. deForest, said, "They require a little more care in fitting, but they do clear that intermediate range which bothers people when they reach the 60 to 70 year age."

DeForest pointed out that the new type of glasses were being used at present as "occupational lenses."

Druggists, accountants and others buying them were required to see things at the different ranges the glasses cover.

Winnipeg Mail Boxes Keeps Big City Clean

WINNIPEG, Man.—(BUP)—Winnipeg's mail boxes are one of the reasons the city is regarded as one of the tidiest in Canada.

Winnipeg postal authorities keep a separate record book of all the spectacles, liquor permits, wallets, and even money that goes through the slots of the city's 370 mail boxes.

Each year, hundreds of untraced articles are turned over to the police department. These include tulip bulbs, jewelry, accessories, and keys that would open a thousand doors.

Vatican Is Said To Select Canada As Haven

ROME—Plans to safeguard the continuity of the Vatican administration in the event Rome is invaded by a power such as the Soviet Union have been ready for years, prelates said here this week. The plans are of course secret, but it is believed the church would be moved to a site in Canada, probably Quebec, if war should break out.

Canada May Make Own Laminated Skis

QUEBEC CITY, Que.—(BUP)—Canada may produce by next year its own adaptation of loosely laminated skis.

Fritz Loosli, chief ski instructor of the Chateau Frontenac hotel Ski Hawks club, has been asked by the Peterborough Canoe Company of Peterborough, Ontario, to supervise new methods of their manufacture this summer.

Picnic Sponsored By Nurse's Home

WANDERING RIVER—On Aug. 2 a picnic was sponsored by the committee of the Nurses' Home on the Wandering River grounds.

The main event of the day was baseball played by Lac la Biche, Boyle and Wandering River. Lac la Biche team went home with the prize.

In the booths ice cream, soft drinks, hot dogs and refreshments were served. The day was warm and pleasant, so everyone enjoyed the picnic. To wind up the day a dance was held in Wandering River hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Duperron have moved on to their farm west of Breynat.
